Looming in the shadow. Looming in the shadows rewards. Pokemon go looming in the shadows.

After weeks of build-up, the Looming Shadows update went live globally on November 7, 2019. This update introduced a new Special Research as well as a game mechanic to Pokémon Go, and we're here to walk you through completing this research!As of July 7, 2020, Team GO Rocket hot air balloons now spawn on the map like Pokémon encounters. These hot air balloons operate in the same way as invaded PokéStops, allowing players to challenge Team GO Rocket Grunts, Executives, and even Giovanni himself, all without the need to travel to PokéStops.What is Team GO Rocket anyway?Based on the original antagonists of Pokémon, Team Rocket is an infamous criminal organization led by Giovanni. The group seeks to steal valuable Pokémon and force those Pokémon to further Giovanni's endeavors. In Pokémon Go, the group is much the same, known as Team GO Rocket. Basically, they're the bad guys who've been missing from the game since day one. They're here now, and once a month, you can complete a Special Research to take on their leader, Giovanni and potentially rescue a Legendary Shadow Pokémon from him.Can I start right away?Probably but, unlike some other Special Research lines, players must complete another Special Research to begin Looming in the Shadows. If you haven't completed A Troubling Situation, you'll have to finish that one first. Fortunately, A Troubling Situation is pretty quick, and we have a guide that will walk you through it fast.Originally, another Special Research line was added each month, but as of March, 2020, Niantic stopped releasing monthly research in response to the global pandemic. Players can complete previous month's Special Research lines if they were behind, but new monthly Special Research won't be added before September, 2020. You must also be at least Level eight to begin this Special Research.Looming in the Shadows Special ResearchOnce you've completed A Troubling Situation, you can begin Looming in the Shadows by simply clicking on the Research icon (the bubble with a pair of binoculars) in the bottom-right corner of your screen.Pokémon Go Special Research Looming in the Shadows (Image credit: iMore)Casian HollySpin ten PokéStops for 500 XP.Defeat three Team GO Rocket Grunts for 500 XP.Catch one Shadow Pokémon for 500 XP.Completion rewards: 500 Stardust, ten Poké Balls, and ten RazzberriesSpin a PokéStop five days in a row for 750 XP.Purify 15 Shadow Pokémon for 750 XP.Win five raids for 750 XP.Completion rewards: 1,000 Stardust, three Hyper Potions, and three RevivesPokémon Go Team Rocket Mysterious Component (Image credit: Niantic)Use six super effective Charged Attacks in Gym Battles for 1,000 XP.Win three Great League Trainer Battles against another Trainer for 1,000 XP.Defeat six Go Rocket Grunts for 1,000 XP.Completion rewards: 1,500 Stardust, 15 Great Balls, and five Pinap BerriesPokémon Go Rocket Radar (Image credit: Niantic)Defeat Team GO Rocket Leader Arlo for 1,250 XP.Defeat Team GO Rocket Leader Cliff for 1,250 XP.Defeat Team GO Rocket Leader Sierra for 1,250 XP.Completion rewards: 2,000 Stardust, one Super Rocket Radar, and three Golden Razz BerriesPokémon Go Super Rocket Radar (Image credit: Niantic)Find the Team GO Rocket Boss for 2,500 Stardust.Battle the Team GO Rocket Boss for 1,500 XP.Defeat the Team GO Rocket Boss for three Silver Pinap Berries.Completion rewards: 3,000 Stardust, one Charged TM, and one Fast TMAutocompleted for 2,000 XP.Autocompleted for 2,000 XP.Completion rewards: three Max Revives, 20 Ultra Balls, and three Rare Candies Page 2 Part of the Looming Shadows update added a new feature to Pokémon Go: Team GO Rocket Hideouts. By assembling Rocket Radars, players can track down Team GO Rocket Hideouts, where they can challenge the Leaders of Team GO Rocket. In addition to completing Special Research, defeating Team GO Rocket Leaders come with plenty of potential rewards, including:Max RevivesRevivesMax PotionsUnova StonesSinnoh StonesEncounters with Shadow Pokémon, some of which have the potential to be shinyWhile a Rocket Radar is necessary to find the Team GO Rocket Hideouts, once a player has completed their first, additional Rocket Radars can be purchased for PokéCoins from the PokéShop. Once equipped, the Hideouts will be visible on the map and can be challenged in the same way that players challenge the Team GO Rocket Grunts, but the Leaders are much stronger and use their shields. Don't worry if you don't beat the Team GO Rocket Leader the first time. You can heal your Pokémon, power them up, swap your line up, and try again until you can defeat them. For a more in-depth dive into the possible counters for the Leaders of Team GO Rocket, see our guide.Source: Niantic(Image credit: Source: Niantic)Beginning July 9, 2020, the iconic duo who have been the face of Team Rocket are now Team GO Rocket agents! Jesse and James have been sighted in Pokémon Go, flying in on their Meowth hot air balloon to bring double trouble! For a limited time only, Trainers can challenge both Jesse and James in Pokémon Go and we have their line up, along with the best counters.First up is Jesse with:Ekans: a Poison type, Ekans is weak against Ground and Psychic types, Ekans is pretty weak. It's best to use this time to build up your charged attack or use up Jesse's shields.Scyther: a Bug and Flying type, Scyther has several weaknesses, including Fire, Flying, Electric, and Ice, but it's quad weakness to Rock is the one you'll want to exploit. Rampardos, Rhyperior, Terrakion, or Tyranitar all work really well here.Bagon: a Dragon type, Bagon is weak against Ice, Dragon, and Fairy. Just keep in mind, your Dragon types will also be weak to Bagon if it knows a Dragon type move. This shouldn't be too much of an issue, however, with Bagon being the start of its evolutionary line.While all three of these Pokémon have appeared as Shadow Pokémon previously, Bagon has the potential to be evolved into a Shadow Salamence which is one of the best glass cannons in the game. Shadow Salamence is an excellent counter for Dragon type Raids.After beating Jesse, James is up with:Koffing: a Poison type, Koffing is weak against Ground and Psychic types, Ekans is pretty weak. It's best to use this time to build up your charged attack or use up James' shields.Sneasel: an Ice and Dark type, Sneasel is weak against Rock, Bug, Steel, Fire, and Fairy, but its quad weakness to Fighting is the one you'll want to exploit. Lucario or Machop will work here, but you can also go with a Melmetal or Obstagoon that know Fighting type moves.Beldum: a Steel and Psychic type, Beldum is weak against Ground, Ghost, Fire, and Dark type attacks. Either form of Giratina work well, as do Tyranitar or Gengar.While all of these Pokémon have appeared as Shadow Pokémon previously, Beldum has the potential to be evolved into a Shadow Metagross which is one of the best glass cannons in the game. Shadow Metagross is the number one recommended counter for the current Legendary Raid: Kyurem.Additionally, Jesse and James fulfill the requirements for beating two Team GO Rocket Grunts in Research tasks.Source: Niantic(Image credit: Source: Niantic)Cliff is the first of the Team Go Rocket Executives and their counterpart to Team Mystic's Leader Blanche. Cliff brings in a team of three Pokémon with the second and third being chosen from a pool of different strong Shadow Pokémon. Fortunately, you can battle an Executive as many times as it takes to beat them. So, if you lose the first time, take note of which Pokémon fill those second and third slots and plan your next attack accordingly.Cliff's first Pokémon for Invaded PokéStops is currently Pinsir. Fire, Flying, and Rock type moves do double damage, while Flying and Ghost type resist Pinsir's fast moves. The best counters include Moltres, Zapdos, Charizard, Entei, Dragonite, or Giratina in either form will also work well.Cliff's first Pokémon for Aerial Attacks is Grimer. A Poison type, Grimer is weak to Ground and Psychic types. Good counters include Groudon, Mewtwo, Mamoswine, or Excadriil.In his second slot, Cliff could send out Marowak. Marowak uses Ground and Fighting type moves and is weak against Water, Grass, and Ice. Gyarados is the best counter thanks to its resistances, but Lugia, Dragonite, Swampert, Kyogre, Venusaur, or Leafon will all work well.If he goes with Omastar, you'll want to exploit its double weakness against Grass types. Torterra, Venusaur, or Leafon are good common counters, but Abomasnow, Roserade, or Ludicolo also work well.If Electivire is in Cliff's second slot, its only weakness is against Ground, and its movepool includes a lot of potential for super effective damage to its counters. Good counters include Swampert, Garchomp, Rhyperior, Groudon, Gliscor, or Giratina Origin Forme.For the third slot, Cliff may bring Tyranitar, in which case, your Fighting-types like Machop, Lucario, or Poliwrath will serve you well. Swampert with Hydro Cannon can also work well here.Swampert could be in Cliff's third slot, in which case Venusaur, Meganium, or Leafon will do well, but you could also rely on a Torterra or Shiftry.Torterra can also be Cliff's third Pokémon. A Grass and Ground type with an interesting movepool, your best counters here are Heatran, Blaziken, Togekiss, or Dialga.Source: Niantic(Image credit: Source: Niantic)Much like her counterparts, Sierra's team choices make all the difference in what you should bring to fight her, and her Shadow Pokémon have ridiculous CP. Be prepared to fight her more than once.If you're challenging her at an invaded PokéStop, Sierra's first Pokémon, Beldum is incredibly weak, regardless of the counter. If you bring in a Ghost type like Gengar or Giratina, you can burn through both Sierra's shields while resisting Beldum's attacks. You might also use this time to store up energy for charged attacks.If you're challenging her in an Aerial Attack, Sierra's first Pokémon is Lapras. Some good counters include Dialga, Giratina, Magnezone, Melmetal, Poliwrath, and Machop.For her second slot, she could go with Exeggutor which has a double weakness against Bug. It is also weak against Dark, Fire, Ghost, Ice, Flying, and Poison. Great counters here include: Giratina, Tyranitar, Darkrai, Weavile, Metagross, Typhlosion, Charizard, or Scizor.If she goes with Lapras, some good counters include Dialga, Giratina, Magnezone, Melmetal, Poliwrath, and Machop.Sharpedo has several weaknesses, including Bug, Electric, Fairy, Fighting, and Grass. Good counters here include Poliwrath, Venusaur, Shiftry, Togekiss, Ludicolo, or Machop.If Houndoom is her third choice, Tyranitar is your best counter, but Swampert, Kyogre, Darkrai, or Machop all do very well.Shiftry could be in Sierra's third slot, in which case you want to take advantage of its double weakness to Bug types, like Scizor or Pinsir. However Togekiss, Charizard, Blaziken, Heatran, or Machop will also do well while not being super vulnerable to Houndoom with Fire Fang.If Sierra sends out Alakazam, Tyranitar, Weavile, or Darkrai all do really well in resisting Alakazam's attacks while taking advantage of its Ghost and Dark weaknesses.Source: Niantic(Image credit: Source: Niantic)Another challenging Executive, Arlo can bring out a wide variety of Shadow Pokémon with crazy high CP. Expect to fight a second or third time before you get the right combination to defeat him.Currently, Arlo's first Pokémon at Invaded PokéStops is always Mawile. Your best bets here are Fire types, but which Fire type will depend on Mawile's moveset. You might have to back out and restart choice, his move pool is hard to counter. Excadriil is the only Pokémon in the game who resists all of its movepool well. Garchomp, Groudon, Charizard, Swampert, or Kyogre also perform well.In Aerial Attacks and once his lineup switches entirely, his second Pokémon can be one of the following:Dugtrio, in which case you will want to counter with Gyarados, Articuno, Torterra, or Venusaur.Nidoking, in which case you'll want to counter with Empoleon, Kyogre, Excadriil, or Jirachi.Garchomp, in which case you'll want to counter with Articuno, Togekiss, Gardevoir, or Granbull. You could also bring one of the many Dragon type counters, like Rayquaza or Dragonite, but if Garchomp happens to have Dragon type moves as opposed to Ground type, your Dragon is going to take super effective damage as well.Giovanni's third Pokémon is Shadow Entei, but beginning Friday, July 10, 2020, Shadow Suicune will make its debut. The best Pokémon to counter are Kyogre, Swampert, Rhyperior, Vaporeon, Feraligatr, Terrakion, Garchomp, or Groudon.For Shadow Suicune, you'll want to counter with Electric types. While it's also weak to Grass types, it can know Ice type moves that are super effective against Grass types. Raikou, Electivire, or Magnezone work well. Because Suicune can also know Psychic type moves, you might also consider using Mew or Mewtwo with their Electric type
